

Council Policy – Community Engagement

Objective

The Community Engagement Policy aims to help the City of Albany make better decisions which reflect the interests and concerns of potentially affected people and entities.

This policy affirms the City of Albany’s commitment to community engagement and the use of associated guidelines and processes, being:

- City of Albany, Community Engagement Communications Staff Toolkit;
- How to engage with residents before your event guide; and
- City of Albany Community Engagement Community Engagement Project Template.

Note: For Statutory planning matters, Council has adopted a specific policy position that directs how these principles will be applied to community engagement and consultation.

Policy Statement

The City of Albany is a proactive organisation which has a willingness to listen to and value what community members have to say. The City seeks to use the ideas, knowledge and skills of the community to enhance decision making.

Community engagement assists the City of Albany to provide good governance and strong leadership, delivering better decisions that guide the City’s priorities into the future.

The City of Albany is committed to strengthening Albany through effective community engagement to share information, gather views and opinion, develop options, build consensus and make decisions.

The following community engagement principles apply to all community engagement undertaken by the City of Albany:

Commitment	Leadership and strong commitment to information, consultation and active participation in policy-making is needed at all levels.
Inclusiveness	Consultation will be planned and undertaken with the aim of engaging all people affected by the activity. Given consideration to the City’s policies, e.g. Access and Inclusion Policy and the Aboriginal Accord Agreement. Affected and interested parties will be given opportunities to participate. Consultation will be sensitive to the needs of particular groups to maximize their ability to contribute.
Clarity	Objectives for and limits to information, consultation and active participation should be well defined from the outset. The respective roles and responsibilities of each stakeholder must be clear to all. ‘Plain English’ will be used wherever practical, with all technical terms explained using simple explanations.

Timing	Community engagement and active participation should be undertaken as early in the process as possible to allow a greater range of solutions to emerge and to raise the chances of best practice outcomes. Adequate time must be available for engagement and consultation to be effective. Communication is needed at all stages of the project cycle.
Transparency	The stakeholders in any consultation process should be clear about why and how the consultation will be undertaken and how much influence the consultation can have in the decision making process and outcomes. Stakeholders should be made aware of the any limitations in the process and if options are restricted. Stakeholders should be updated regularly on the progress and outcome of the consultation.
Resources	Adequate financial, human and technical resources are needed if public information, consultation and active participation in planning and/or assessment of major planning projects are to be effective. The City must have access to appropriate skills and resources. An organisational culture that supports their efforts is highly important.
Accountability	The City has an obligation to account for the use they make of community and stakeholder inputs received through feedback, public consultation and active participation. Measures to ensure the process is open, transparent and amenable to external scrutiny and review are crucial to increasing accountability overall.

This policy does not negate the need for the City to comply with all statutory obligations.
